A Famed Chinese Author Looks at Asia

Recently The Times was privileged to present the first authorized report by an American correspondent inside Red China's Bamboo Curtain. Now comes an authoritative look at the other side of the Curtain, by famed author Lin Yutang, fresh from an extensive tour of free Asia. Here is the first of his reports.

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you want to know the future of the world 10 years from now, look at Asia today.

There may come a time when the Communist flood-tide has broken loose and covered two-thirds of the world's population and resources and then, or some time before that, world war will become inevitable.

Or, this tide may be held back and the Communist advance across the Asiatic continent effectively checked, in which case the balance of forces may tip in the free world's favor.

Altogether Asia is receiving scant attention in proportion to its vital role in the world struggle for freedom. Hundreds of millions of dollars of American foreign aid have been spent, it is true; but information with regard to current developments is inadequate, vague and confused, sometimes even misleading.

An over-all strategy for meeting Communist infiltration and subversion has not been developed; the policies of the United States and her European allies are divided. Our own informants of public opinion are often mis-informed themselves.

The vagueness and haphazard character of our goals in Asia have brought about a state of nervousness and uncertainty, arising from fear of the unknown. During the Quemoy incident, British opinion reached near-hysteria when The New Statesman, in a leading article called "The Rim of Hell," referred to the American policy at Quemoy as "insane."

On the other hand, Russia's Khrushchev is not looking at Europe or a shooting war in the next five to seven years, but is turning his eyes to Asia and Africa.

All bluffs notwithstanding, Khrushchev no more desires the physical destruction of the U.S.S.R. in an atomic war than Americans. Russia is counting on winning the war in Europe through Asia in the next years. A cold war is going on out there, a war of infiltration, propaganda and economic competition, and it is there we must pay more attention.

To find how the different Asiatic peoples are thinking and feeling, with regard to their own development and to Communist China and Russia I went to visit the Far East.

Recently much has been made of industrial progress in Red China. Little is published about the remarkable progress in Free China. This is not healthy. Even Communist boasts of blueprints scare us; while the accomplishments of Formosa are ignored.

This is all the more remarkable considering that Washington and all experts agree that Formosa has become the showpiece of effectiveness of the American aid program. Formosa, which broke into front pages during the Quemoy crisis, may be the least known Southeast Asia area. While the Quemoy war was on, public judgment in this country was based in large measure on what it knew of the Nationalist Chinese Government in the period of its collapse at Nanking.

Nine years have elapsed since then and the consensus of foreigners who have visited Formosa is that the progress in industry and general standard of living, in education and rural reconstruction and demo-

HUTCHISON FROM WASHINGTON

Major Shift In Cold War Under Way

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor The Times

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The world's frozen post-war posture of fourteen years has begun to melt. That is the true meaning of events now moving fast in Washington, London and Moscow.

What will come of them, and when, no man can foresee but there can be no doubt that the world's two greatest powers are groping toward some kind of a agreement, probably far short of real peace and, on both sides, are engaged in an agonizing secret reappraisal. Hutchison

The artificial balance of power — or terror — erected after the last war is crumbling at the edges.

When John Foster Dulles, indispensable man of American diplomacy, went into hospit the other day he took with him the makings of a completely new situation and a drastic change in his own thinking. On his return to work, if he returns, he or a successor will begin to execute the largest shift in American foreign policy since President Truman and Secretary of State Dean Acheson re-armed the United States and its allies for the cold war.

The basic changes in American thinking are disguised for the moment by many distractions, much diplomatic double talk and a blizzard of confusing public statements. Nevertheless, the change has occurred and it is based on the assumption that Russia's thinking has changed also.

World Wide Readjustment—or Peril

If this assumption is correct we are entering upon a world-wide period of readjustment. If it is incorrect—and no one can be sure about Russia's inner thoughts—we may enter, instead, a period of acute peril.

At any rate, Mr. Dulles, who wears American foreign policy under his hat, has decided to operate on the premise that Russia now wants some kind of accommodation in central Europe, the hinge of the world struggle.

Clearly Mr. Dulles also wants an accommodation which, until recently, he considered impossible and dangerous.

A year ago, as this reporter

SOMMERS' CASE OPENS HERE

Limitation Clause Key Appeal Point

Vancouver criminal lawyer Angelo Branca, opening an appeal in Victoria today on behalf of former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers, told the court his main argument will revolve around a limitation section of the old Criminal Code.

Mr. Branca said that in effect he was abandoning all other points of the appeal, including mis-direction of the jury by trial judge Mr. Justice J. O. Wilson.

EXPIRED

He argued in effect that by the time the final indictment was laid in June, 1958—halfway through the trial—a two-year limitation contained in the old code had expired. The limitation section prescribed that no bribery charges can be proceeded with after two years from their alleged committal.

Mr. Justice H. L. Bird is heading a panel of three judges hearing the case in the B.C. Court of Appeal. The other justices are H. W. Davey and S. A. Sheppard.

West Calls for German Advisers at 4-Power Talks

U.K., TURKEY, GREECE ALL AGREED ON CYPRUS

LONDON (UPI) — Britain, Greece and Turkey have reached full agreement on the key points of a solution to the Cyprus problem, it was announced by a foreign office spokesman tonight.

The surprise announcement came after a day of conferences among the parties concerned.

Greek Cypriot leaders were reported dissatisfied with some parts of the proposed Cyprus independence plan because Greece and Turkey had reached an agreement on the island's future without consulting them.

But after two meetings with Archbishop Makarios, they decided to leave it up to the archbishop to negotiate a compromise or accept the plan in principle, as he saw fit.

The issue will be worked out Tuesday at a three-nation conference.

ARCHBISHOP MAKARIOS

New Proposal Given Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States, Britain and France proposed to Russia today that a four-power foreign ministers' conference on Germany be convened this spring with German advisers present.

A preference was expressed for late April or early May as the meeting time.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers the step could prove to be a historical move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of re-unifying Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow today.

135 MPH Wind Batters Nfld.; Snow Clogs City

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — This city of 60,000 persons was all but paralyzed today. A blizzard with winds up to 135 miles an hour blocked city streets, cut off power and telephone service and knocked out communication lines.

VISIT TO U.S. BY DE GAULLE?

PERPIGNAN, France (Reuters) — President Charles de Gaulle hopes to visit the United States some time this year, it was learned Sunday night from one of his officials.

Mac-Ike Talks In Washington?

LONDON (Reuters) — The illness of U.S. State Secretary Dulles touched off fresh speculation today that Prime Minister Macmillan may go to Washington for talks with President Eisenhower after his forthcoming visit to Moscow.

Transportation was at a standstill. Fifteen-foot drifts filled main thoroughfares. City snowplows tried to open some streets but had to call on Canadian and United States service bases for help.

Power was restored to most of the city at 2:30 p.m. after a lapse of almost 12 hours. Service failed about 3 a.m.

The power failure prevented the city's two daily newspapers from publishing. Radio and television stations were silent and many of the city's telephones were out of order.

SINGLE-LINK

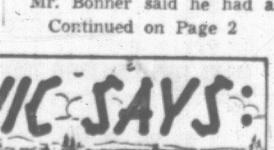

The only link with mainland Canada was one telegraph cable.

A St. John's Telegram reporter said: "St. John's is at a complete standstill. There are drifts up to 15 feet high in the streets. There is no electricity and telephone communications are shot. The only way to get anywhere is to walk."

The blizzard, worst in memory, struck about midnight and reached its furious peak between 3 and 5 a.m. The weather office at Torbay airport said 21 inches of snow fell. The hurricane, gusting up to 110 miles an hour there, plowed drifts that defied all but the most powerful snowplows.

Mr. Bonner said he had a

One lump or two chaps? It's certain none of the old crowd ever expected to see a teapot on top of Victoria College. Nobody seems to know if the pot, which appeared some time Sunday night, was put up by a teen-age teetotaller or a disgusted imbiber. Either way it will stay up there until someone gets up enough nerve to make the wind climb and take down the cardboard cut-out. Just another in the list of student pranks as old as education.

CPR Decision Wednesday On Ferries Says Bonner

Decision on a proposal to continue CPR ferry service between Victoria and Vancouver after Feb. 26 will be announced Wednesday, it was indicated today.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner returned from weekend talks in Montreal and Ottawa with official word that the CPR had agreed to take "a second look" at its plan to suspend the winter service next week.

He said CPR president N. R. Crump had agreed to phone him Wednesday with the final decision. CPR west coast officials were to go to Montreal headquarters for discussion of a possible service continuation.

Meanwhile, a planned civic delegation trip to eastern Canada on the whole transportation issue, both planes and ferries, was disrupted today when Mayor Percy Scurrath

PHILIP'S CARS SKID INTO TANGLE AT SWAT

SAIDU SHARIF, Pakistan (Reuters)—Prince Philip, driving into the tribal state of Swat, today escaped a traffic tangle that involved part of his procession and nearly brought tragedy to children welcoming him.

After driving 3,000 feet upward on a dangerous mountain road, the procession was passing the first school in Swat state when an official car, passing another carrying Pakistani journalists, skidded broadside-on.

It slid toward a double line of waving children. The journalists' car skidded too and both came to rest nose to nose within a yard or two of the leading seven-year-old welcomed.

Philip, driving ahead, went on unaware of the near-accident.

eratic standards is spectacular. It is difficult to talk about Formosa because of what Joseph Alsop calls the "enduring superstitions about Chiang Kai-shek," formed during the years when Alger Hiss was in the State Department. Some of the mud-slinging during the last years of an exhausted regime certainly was justified. A lot of it has stuck.

But the nine years of silent change have turned Formosa into a showpiece of what has been done through American aid.

The only worse thing than ignorance is satisfaction with one's own ignorance. Formosa is now ready for anyone to look in and stay there as long as one likes and submit it to the closest scrutiny.

The only way to tell the story is to say, "Do not take my word for it. Go there and see for yourself." The most incredulous will be impressed.

Michael Lindsay, who was all for Yenan (the Communists) during the Japanese war, wrote, "Excluding Japan, Formosa may quite well be the best administered country in Asia." Alsop says, "It has the highest standard of living in all Asia, outside Japan."

Prof. Richard Walker of South Carolina, who lived and taught in Formosa, says, "To date, we have been singularly unsuccessful in making the rest of the world aware of what has been accomplished in Taiwan (Formosa) with our aid. It has the highest standard of living in Southeast Asia. Land reform, industrialization, education and local government have all been remarkable."

I was not prepared for this. The reader of am afraid, cannot quite understand what the sight of a prosperous Asiatic countryside with rural electrification means to an Asiatic boy who is used to the sight of tumbledown huts a n d patched clothing and general hardship and poverty.

If this can be done for Formosa, it can be done for all

Asia, provided you get the right kind of administration.

It means everything to me that the general standard of living has been raised for the common people at large, for the village folks and the farmers. This, after all, is what a government exists for, and this, I believe, is the sole aim and goal of American aid.

My last impression is that the Nationalist Government has a job to do and is doing it extremely well. My estimate is that it will take India 15 years with luck before it can catch up with the general standard of living of Formosa.

TUESDAY: Land reform and village prosperity.

AUTHOR DRAWS ON 2 CULTURES

Lin Yutang, author of the series of articles on China starting today, combines the cultures of the East and the West.

Born in Fukien Province, China, in 1895, he received his early education in the tradition of the Orient. Later he took post-graduate studies at LIN YUTANG Harvard University and at Jena and Leipzig in Germany.

In close to 30 years he has written almost a book a year in English and several of them have been best sellers. "The Importance of Living," "My Country and My People" and "Moment in Peking" are among his best-known titles.

His latest book is "The Secret Name" (published by Farrar, Straus and Cudahy). It is a penetrating analysis of the meaning and methods of communism.

Authorities have said they are investigating charges of fraud against Gutema which involve millions of dollars.

The Jacobs firm, a holding company for Gutema's varied interests, said Sunday Roach had been named by the board of directors as director, chairman of the board, and chief executive officer.

Gutema has resigned as president and board chairman of Jacobs, the announcement said, and the president's job is being held open.

Roach, a major stockholder in Jacobs and Gutema's Scranton Corporation, which owns Mutual and the Roach Studios, said he found it necessary to assume control to protect his own interests and those of other stockholders and employees.

Gutema is accused specifically of not filing required reports on the sale of 98,000 shares of stock in the F. L. Jacobs Company.

However, Paul Windels, Jr., regional director for the Securities Exchange Commission and when the provincial furies are placed in operation.

He said he regretted the inconvenience and loss of employment that would result if the CPR goes ahead with the ferry suspension.

IWA Hits Back At Smallwood With Lawsuits

GRAND FALLS, Nfld. (CP)—International Woodworkers of America (CLC) lawyers today will start proceedings in two law suits against Premier Smallwood in connection with a speech he made Thursday night.

H. Landon Ladd, president of IWA's district 2, said in a radio address Saturday night the union will ask the labor minister for permission, as required by law, to prosecute Premier Smallwood "for unfair labor practices."

The suit would be in connection with the government's intervention in the strike IWA called against the Anglo-Newfoundland Development Company here. It started Dec. 31 to back demands for higher wages and a shorter work week.

The premier advised loggers in a province-wide radio and television talk Thursday night to send the IWA out of the province and organize a union of their own.

$100,000 SOUGHT

Mr. Smallwood, who has previously organized at least a dozen unions, offered the full support of the provincial cabinet.

Mr. Ladd said Saturday night that lawyer James Green will file a libel suit against the premier for $100,000 because "he attacked our characters . . ."

Opposition to Mr. Smallwood's blunt stand on the strike was voiced by the Nova Scotia Federation of Labor and the Cape Breton Labor Council Sunday pledged support to the loggers.

The CLC said "the anti-labor sentiments voiced by Premier Smallwood are repugnant to all working classes."

LIBERALS COMPLAIN

Ontario Liberal member Albert Wren asked national Liberal Leader Pearson to call Mr. Smallwood before the council of the National Liberal Federation, "to show just cause why he should not be removed from the Liberal party of Canada."

British Columbia Liberal Leader Arthur Laing accused Mr. Smallwood of ignoring party principles in labor matters.

President David Archer, of the Ontario Federation of Labor said "this speech by Mr. Smallwood over television is the first incident of its kind in our history."

Hamilton's 15,000 members of the United Steelworkers of America (CLC) will be asked to give full moral and financial support to the Newfoundland loggers.

CCF House Leader Hazen Argue gave notice that he will ask in the Commons that the government table documents concerning the strike of loggers.

The only point Mr. Ladd and Mr. Smallwood agreed on was that the strike was unnecessary.

Mr. Mulliner said today that contracts with Minor and Commercial Hockey Leagues were drawn upon a yearly basis and the longer period of rental would produce a lower nightly figure than a one-night stand.

He invited the Jaycees to submit their protest in writing to arena manager Joe Dukowski before the commission's next meeting Thursday at 5 p.m.

No reductions were possible, he said.

"We made a firm decision about it last year."

No reductions were possible, he said.

"We made a firm decision about it last year."

Chairman of the Jaycees' campaign, Bill Davidson, charged Mr. Mulliner's statement was "wrong."

PRECEDENT SET

"Very definitely the precedent has been set," Mr. Davidson said, "regardless of what Mr. Mulliner says."

Mr. Davidson, a former president of Minor Hockey

League here, said the league never paid over a total of $250 per night for the arena.

"I do know that on commercial hockey nights," he said, "the arena rental never reaches anywhere near $625 (price to the Jaycees for one night)."

"I don't know what he's doing; he knows he's wrong. Who is he trying to kid?"

Mr. Mulliner said today that contracts with Minor and Commercial Hockey Leagues were drawn upon a yearly basis and the longer period of rental would produce a lower nightly figure than a one-night stand.

Fiasco in Trade

NO PLANK IN THE CONSERVATIVE platform for the last federal election campaign was so promising as that dealing with Canada's trade. Both in regard to handling of the problem and in results achieved, none has been more disappointing.

The Government at Ottawa has been congratulating itself on the fact that exports have declined relatively little—only by about $5 millions—despite world market conditions. But what is not mentioned is that this showing in export trade is not due to a generally healthy situation throughout our economy, but to a handful of special items which alone increased exports by $330 millions in 1958.

If it had not been for these items, the export total would have been very much different. Increases in these particular commodities, however, have not meant strength in the basic exports on which the general economy depends. Without such non-typical export increases the over-all drop in 1958 might have been $35 millions.

Uranium exports to the United States in 1958 accounted for an increase of $132 millions over 1957. This was a special arrangement under a contract made by the previous Liberal Government.

Cattle exports were up about $50 millions over the preceding year, a legitimate enough trade improvement. But the sizable increase in wheat exports was due substantially to financing by the taxpayer. An $80-million increase in aircraft exports was due largely to the Mutual Aid shipments to Europe—also financed by Canadian taxpayers.

Except for the cattle item, none of these exports can be classified as normal, private, commercial transactions. Yet it is on the totals provided by these exports that the Government claims success for its trade policy.

In a recent speech in the House, Opposition Leader Lester Pearson drew attention to Government claims regarding the decrease in our trade deficit with the United States. The Conservatives' implication is that this reduction is due to an export increase fostered by Government policy. In actual fact both exports and imports in our trade with the United States decreased. The imports decreased more than the exports, which reduced the gap between them.

Our imports from the United States were cut by about 15 per

The Human Need

GREATER VICTORIA HEARS many appeals for financial help throughout the year. This week an appeal of a different kind is being publicized. The Family and Children's Service is asking for foster parents—husbands and wives who will open their households to children who have lost their own homes through one misfortune or another and need the love and security that can come only from happy family life.

A foster home may be a temporary or permanent arrangement. It may provide care for a three-weeks-old baby or a 17-year-old youth. But basically all are the same; they are carefully selected homes that will help to make up for the things that the foster child has been deprived of—the care and attention, the parental direction, the sense of being wanted.

About 190 children are now in local foster homes, placed there by the Family and Children's Service which keeps in touch with the parents and gives continuing assistance. They are not adopted, merely looked after. The expenses of the child—food, clothing, medical attention and so on—are paid by the Service. The parents provide the even more valuable intangibles which no institution can hope to give.

Local families with spare room in their homes and in their hearts could render valuable and satisfying help by getting in touch with the Service at Spencer House. About 150 children come into the agency's care each year and the need for suitable homes is constant. Now is the time to help.

For Health and Happiness

IT IS GOOD NEWS THAT THE provincial campsite and picnic grounds at Goldstream are nearing completion and should be ready for use by April 1. All who have used similar facilities at Little Qualicum Falls, Englishman River, Stamp Falls and other locations on the Island and mainland will know the convenience, utility and woodland beauty that may be expected at the new camp.

Provision of such sites, complete with camp table, fire slab, benches and tent space and a handy supply of firewood and running water, is one of the best recreation programs carried on by the Provincial Government. The heavy use of the facilities by families throughout the summer season proves their popularity, and points up the vital need for healthful outdoor vacations by everyone in these days of increasing tensions.

The camp sites combine in just the right proportions the pleasure of roughing it, and the necessary refinements of water, fuel and sanitary facilities.

It is easy to predict a popular use of the Goldstream location. May there be many more such provided.

The $10,000 Question

ON THE BATTLEFIELDS OF the Ontario legislature and the Ontario Hydro a familiar war is being waged. The Hydro paid something more than $10,000 for a mural by Toronto artist Harold Town and, claims Liberal Arthur Reaume, former mayor of Windsor, nobody knows what it represents.

Mr. Town says it is a pure abstraction. National Gallery director Alan Jarvis, says it is "a great step forward in Canadian mural art."

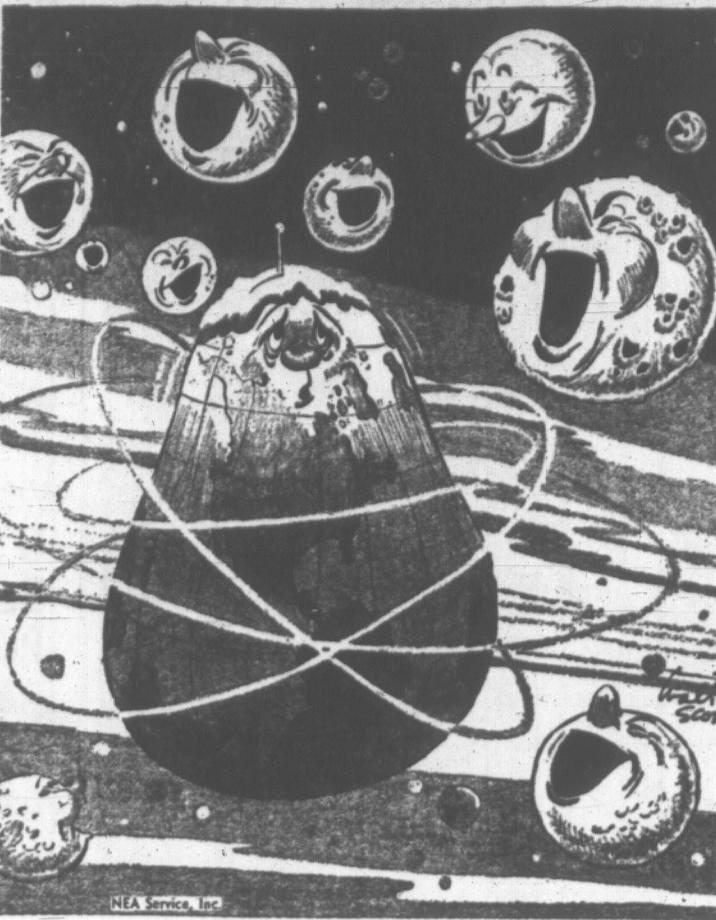

Mr. Reaume seems to suggest that if it is a step forward, people shouldn't walk on the wall with their boots in that condition.

What does it represent? It's an abstraction, says the creator.

And what's an abstraction?

One definition says it is "the mental operation of separating qualities or attributes from the individual objects to which they belong . . . Like $10,000 from the Ontario Hydro."

THE FATTED CALVES

Food: Theory and Practice

THERE seems to be another flare-up in the continual dietary war between the individual and his or her fatty tissue, which is never really won by either side as long as there is hunger, on the one hand, and tempting starchy dishes on the other. I refer to the war, now underground, now violently on the surface, but always going on, between the experts who tell us what to eat and what to avoid.

To a person not afflicted with excess weight, it would seem a simple thing to set out a diet and follow it. You can eat this and this and this and this. You must leave alone this and this and this. You draw up your lists and follow them.

But it isn't nearly so easy. Quite apart from the struggles against the inner man, the conflicts of conscience, the moral victories and defeats which mark the dieter's progress towards slimness and health, there is another unexpected hazard.

You have your diet list. You follow it. You recommend it to a friend. But the friend, you find, also has a list. She recommends hers to you. And you immediately discover that her list is quite different from yours, her do's and don'ts almost cancel out your do's and do's, and her expert disagrees more with your expert than some of your expert's foods disagree with you.

Confusion Confounded

This throws confusion into the situation. A good dash of chaos is added when you and your friend, in appealing to a third friend for an impartial judgment, find that she, too, has her own list and her own expert, and she doesn't agree with either of you.

It must be pretty confusing.

It's even confusing for onlookers—those on the perimeter of the spartan circle—who do not take an active part in the controversies. They can only conclude that the dieters receive more food for thought than for digestion, and that constant chewing on tough dietary problems probably accounts for much of their reducing in any case.

You read in a newspaper, for instance, that the over-weight person must eschew—about as meanly tantalizing a word as could be chosen—all fats, starches, sweets and other things he likes to eat. Fats especially must be avoided, says the eminent expert, for they cause fatty deposits in your veins and lead to all sorts of troubles.

Egad, thinks the slim, onlooker type, sounds pretty dangerous. Wonder if I'm putting on any weight? He reviews the last couple of pieces of choc-late cake he ate, gets to thinking about how nice they tasted, and goes and cuts himself another large slice.

So much for the slim, onlooker type. The dieter, of course, has read the newspaper article with mounting horror, has recalled all the slips from grace that have occurred during the week, and resolved to do much, much better.

Then he, or she, puts down the paper and picks up a magazine.

PRACTICE AFTER GAME

Oops! Phil's Angry (Again)

By UP International

Coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers, who yields the biggest "whip" in the National Hockey League, has introduced a new wrinkle in an attempt to snap his club out of its longest losing streak in two years.

When the Rangers dropped their fifth straight game to the Montreal Canadiens, 5-1, Sunday night at Madison Square Garden, Watson was so infuriated he ordered his players back on the ice for an ex-hausing 43-minute workout.

It was believed to be the first time an NHL coach resorted to such severe tactics. Garden fans who remained in their seats after the game blithed their eyes in amazement when Watson donned skates and a windbreaker and kept his men on the ice for what amounted to two extra periods.

MUZZ STEPS IN

Finally, general manager Muzz Patrick spoke to Watson and the impromptu drill was halted. As the Rangers staggered to their dressing room, Patrick explained he asked Watson to stop the workout because "it was costing us too much money." It was estimated the drill cost $200 in overtime pay for Garden employees, who normally disassemble the rink immediately after a game.

The usually loquacious Watson refused to talk to newsmen after the workout. The players either were ordered not to discuss it or were too tired to do so, although star right wing Andy Bathgate indicated he felt Watson was justified in his action.

"You've got to try something when you're losing like we are," said Bathgate, who wasn't excused from the session although he has a painful knee injury.

At Moncton, Dick McCullly picked up the New Brunswick banner Saturday by defeating another Moncton rink, skipped by Hoppy Hopkins, 11-9, in a sudden-death final.

Sailors Square Intermediate Set

Taking full advantage of the absence of Nanaimo Clipper star Don Ashbee, and with the vision of the B.C. intermediate hockey championship in their minds, Victoria's Navy team wracked up an 8-6 overtime win in Nanaimo Saturday night.

Navy's victory evened the best-of-five series 1-1, and set the stage for the all-important third contest in Memorial Arena, Tuesday.

Ashbee was handed a year's suspension Friday by BCAHA president Leo Atwell after hitting referee Johnny Smith in the series' opener in Victoria last Tuesday.

Neil Standley and Joe Morris each tallied twice for the winners with singles coming from Johnny Bond and Cliff Uren.

Arnie Dugan paced Clippers with a pair of goals while Earl

University XV Trips Mainland Opposition

University School won their major English rugby match of the season Saturday, defeating arch-rival St. George's of Vancouver 17-3 at University School.

The annual match was decided by the kicking of Wilf Lund, with a convert and a penalty goal, and tries by John Wenman, Fred Allen, Jerry Forrester and Don Bevan.

The match was one of three played during the day. The others were Victoria Rugby Union exhibitions.

At Windsor Park, Oak Bay Whites nipped James Bay Barbarians 8-6 with Dick Ellis converting one of two tries scored by Raphael Duke. Pat Moon scored two tries for James Bay.

In the other game of the day, Victoria College blasted PPCLL 14-0 at Carnarvon Park. Derek Hood tallied two tries and a convert and Phil Tudor Era won the $99,150 Hialeah Turf Cup at Hialeah Park Saturday. Tudor Era, favorite at $6.70 for $2, earned $62,797.50 for Mrs. Herbert Herff after running the 1½ miles on the grass in 2:29 4/5 and beating Ekaba by 3½ lengths.

The amazing 17-year-old Boston University freshman cleared seven feet for the second time in three weeks in the New York Athletic Club games Saturday and just missed 7½'.

"But I think I'll do it at the American Athletic Union championships," said the six-foot-four Thomas.

After clearing seven feet—he's still the only man to make the height indoors—Thomas tried for 7½'. He missed all three tries, but barely touched the crossbar on the second effort.

Thomas' mark is certain to be recognized by the AAU. When he jumped seven feet for the first time in the Millrose meet last Wednesday officials forgot to measure the crossbar as required by the rules.

This time, a horde of them raced to the bar as soon as John went over. Tape measures appeared from all over. It was official.

Probe of Ottawa Operation Asked

Manufacturers' Brief Urges Administration Investigation

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Manufacturers' Association today recommended that a royal commission or other appropriate agency be appointed to inquire into the present organization and methods of administration of the various departments of the federal government.

The recommendation was made in the association's annual pre-budget submission to the minister of finance.

On other matters the submission, signed by Ian F. McRae, association president, included the following recommendations:

No increase in either the corporation or personal income tax rates.

Addition to sales-tax exemptions of articles and materials which enter into the cost of manufacture or production of goods; and of all building materials, and articles and materials entering into their manufacture.

CUT EXCISE TAX

Abolition or substantial reduction in excise taxes—the special taxes levied on certain items, including automobiles in addition to the sales tax.

Revision by the tariff board of sections of the customs tariff which are "out of date" and amendment of the tariff "in such a manner as to restore the protection which the special or dumping-duty provisions were originally designed to give Canadian manufacturers and producers."

The association said "no government board or other body should attempt to fix the rate of compensation for risks undertaken by private capital, as recommended in the interim report of the royal commission on energy."

"Any such actions," it said, "would slow down the expansion and diversification of Canada's growing economy. If additional safeguards are needed for public protection, we believe these can be provided through established bodies such as provincial securities commissions."

Americans Cancel City Trip Due To CPR Pull-Out

The Washington Elementary School of Eureka, California, has cancelled a trip to Victoria next month because of the announced cessation of Canadian Pacific ferries between Seattle and Victoria.

"This is just the beginning of the ill-effects of the CPR's announcement," Publicity Commissioner George Warren said.

"Some 60 students with teachers were to have visited here from March 24 to 27. We offered them an alternative route but they said the ferry trip from Seattle to Victoria was to have been the highlight of the tour."

Voroshilov Ailing

NEW DELHI (AP) — Soviet President Klementi Y. Voroshilov is ill and has cancelled his proposed state visit to India, the foreign ministry announced Sunday. Voroshilov, 78, was due to arrive in India on February 24.

VICTORIA, B.C., MONDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1959 9

THE FIRST SIGNS OF SPRING are beginning to make themselves felt on many Saanich farms as picture above shows. The one-week-old calf belongs to Pat Hoole, 15, of 5846 Oldfield Road, a member of the Saanich 4-H Calf Club, whose new "Penny" will be shining by fall fair time. Many other Vancouver Island boys and girls have started on 4-H "projects" for the fairs at the end of the summer and the months ahead will be busy ones. Pat's "Penny" is really Dogwood Princess Penny on her registration papers. (Robin Clarke photo)

Strike Threatens to Close Gov't Offices in Two Weeks

A strike of 150 engineers in B.C. government buildings throughout the province may be only two weeks away, it was learned today. A strike would mean closure of the buildings in many parts of the province. Although other members of the B.C. Government Employees' Association would not be required to stop work, the buildings would remain unheated. It was considered doubtful work could continue in most areas if this occurred. Picket lines would be placed only in front of steam plants.

TOPICS OF THE DAY

A $21,586 contract for renewal of the superstructure and replacing two floats at Fishermen's Wharf has been awarded Victoria Pile Driving Co. Ltd., it was announced today.

Work on the federal public works project is expected to start in about a month and will take two months.

The floats to be replaced, measuring 14 by 250 feet, are on the east side of the harbor.

T. B. Haskell, president of Greater Vancouver Tourist Association, will address the annual meeting of Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau opening at noon Feb. 27 in the Empress Hotel.

New slate of officers will be elected and annual reports presented at the meeting.

Esquimalt Dockyard Branch 172, Canadian Legion, will hold its annual general meeting Wednesday at 8 p.m. in the legion hall, 622 Admirals.

Two men pleaded guilty in Sooke and Central Saanich police courts today to charges weekend.

Robert Elliott, 3231 Rutledge, was sentenced in Sooke RCMP court to 14 days in jail, mandatory for a second offence of impaired driving.

Earland Michelsen, Sooke, was fined $200 when he appeared in Central Saanich police court.

Jail sentence was imposed "in view of previous conviction which seems to have had no deterrent effect," Magistrate William Ostler said.

Strong southeast winds up to 30 miles per hour, plus cloudy skies and rain showers, were predicted for tonight by weatherman William Mackie.

The wind will subside overnight, he said, but Tuesday will be cloudy with a few showers. Temperatures will be in the mild range of from 40 to 48 degrees.

Robert James Adrian, former private detective charged with perjury and falsifying evidence at divorce proceedings, was remanded in city police court today for committal after a preliminary hearing.

FRASER'S TOPMAST REPAIRED

HMCS Fraser, which suffered a fracture of her topmast recently during a storm in Alaskan waters, has undergone temporary repairs at San Diego.

They were made before the start today of five-day anti-submarine exercises in California waters with units of the United States Navy. With her on the exercises are destroyer escort Margaree and Skeena.

Fraser's operational efficiency was not affected by the damage, which will be repaired permanently when she arrives at Esquimalt with her sister ships March 20. Scheduled to arrive the same day from the east coast is HMCS Assiniboine.

Mr. Bennett said the engineers are awaiting announcement of the detailed disbursement of $1,500,000 which Premier Bennett said in his budget speech would be available to civil servants generally this year.

"But the government is increasing only 50 per cent of the increase recommended," he said.

He explained the BCGEA met last year with the chief personnel officer of the Civil Service Commission and their discussions led to agreement $3,000,000 outlay would be required.

"By inference we were given to understand the commission would recommend these rates to the government," Mr. Bennett said.

In view of the lesser appropriation he felt the engineer's request was not being met. He believes the details of the appropriation would be announced within two weeks. If the request was not met, then the strike would follow.

Public Works Minister W. N. Chant, whose department has jurisdiction over the buildings said, "The whole matter will have to be worked out by the civil service commission.

"I understand the $1,500,000 would be applied to the civil service on a basis of adding to salaries where adjustment is required and on a basis of merit."

He did not think any group would receive a blanket increase."

Four Hurt as Car Catches Fire After Hitting Pile of Asphalt

The other car was driven by Stephen M. Hale, 1075 Tolmie, police said.

He was charged with fraud in connection with lodgings obtained at Thunderbird Motel and Hillside Auto Court.

Help 'Minutes Away' From Dying Tug Crew Fisherman Saw Flash of Light

BY DON INGHAM

Help from a fisherman was only minutes away from the dying crewmen of the tug Henry Foss as they drifted Friday morning in icy waters off Salt Spring Island, it was learned today.

The 90-foot Port Angeles-based tug was on its way to Ladysmith when it hit a rock near the Channel Islands Friday at 4 a.m. during a south-easterly gale.

It was backed off the reef, but sank. The seven-man crew took to the lifeboats without sending a radio signal, and four hours later the lone survivor, Edward Hanson, 41, was found at the mouth of Ganges Harbor.

BRIEF FLASH

Al House of Fulford Harbor, told friends after the tragedy how he had seen the brief flash of a searchlight Friday morning, but did not recognize it as a distress signal.

His large fishing boat, moored in Fulford Harbor, had been slipping its anchor in the storm, forcing him to go aboard, start the engine, and ride the storm out in open water.

He noticed the searchlight glare above land between himself and the wreck, but it was brief and not significant. "If it had been a distress flare I would have gone around," he said.

He spent the rest of the night cruising slowly back and forth in the area, finally returning to Fulford later in the day when the wind had died down.

The tug was located in 120 feet of water by Jack Daley, diver and salvage expert for Island Tug and Barge Ltd., who reported visibility almost nil.

Henry Foss, president of Foss Launch and Tug Co. of Seattle, operator of the wrecked vessel, said today no decision has been made yet regarding salvage.

"A full examination of her hull will be needed first," he said.

Gordon Elworthy of Island Tug and Barge, Ltd., said the vessel is resting on a small ledge, but appears to be secure. An accurate survey will be made on a bright day when visibility is better, he said.

EXPOSURE

The six crewmen apparently died of exposure. Their lifeboat capsized immediately after being launched, and although they wore life jackets and held on to the boat, one by one they dropped away.

One man died alone in a smaller boat.

Hanson was found alive on the larger boat by the crew of the ferry Cy Peck, and Richard T. Lothian, who had been held by Hanson until they were sighted, was found alive near by. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

Hanson is making a good recovery at Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital at Ganges. His wife arrived there on the weekend.

INQUEST

An inquest into the deaths of the six men opened Saturday at 7:05 a.m. Saturday.

Forty-one one-inch holes had been bored through a rear door panel and a section measuring 12 by 18 inches knocked out to allow the door to be unlocked.

Bury Seed Pots in Ground—
They'll Change Into Earth

By PENNY SAVER

Calling all gardeners, green thumbs and weekend country gentlemen (or ladies)! Has that touch of warm Victoria sun we've been treated to for the odd minute lately started you musing and planning about your spring flower planting?

Then you'll be interested in this marvellous pot that when put into the ground (seedling and all), disintegrates into the earth. Pots are made of a special fibre, impregnated with a growing hormone to help tiny seedlings get a good start.

They retain their shape when used as planting pots and when the time comes to re-plant seedlings into flower beds, you can place them into the earth and presto—they disappear! Pots, in a variety of sizes are priced at 20 cents a piece.

Have you a cushion in that play room or den that needs a new cover? I've found cushion covers that would brighten any room—and they're certain to be conversation pieces too. What makes them fun is that they are printed with the British Columbia Centennial flag edged with a fringe (red, yellow, blue, green). Good fun for reminding people of all the events that made last year a special one for us lucky British Columbians! Covers are 99 cents each.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Dyeing Hair Is Easy Today,
And the Results Are Good

Today millions of women color their hair. Most of them are simply improving on nature or are in search of variety rather than covering grey locks.

There are several reasons for the great hair coloring trend. In the first place, tremendous progress has been made in this art. Formulas today are so superior to those of even five years ago that there is no comparison. Dyed hair no longer has that dead, "flat paint" look. No one knows whether or not it is dyed unless they know that it was a different color.

Also, hair tinting takes so little time today. It used to be very laborious. Only five minutes is required for a temporary rinse and it is possible to do a permanent job in 20 minutes. A very drastic change in color, such as changing from black to platinum, probably will take a little longer.

Women's attitude toward color changing also plays a part in the big upswing. They are so accustomed to it now that they take it for granted. Most women care little, if at

DEAR ABBY...

She's Not a Lady!

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I was sitting in a restaurant minding my own business when a very nice looking girl (about 22) came up to me and said, "Can I have your phone number or do you want mine?" I was so stunned I said, "Sorry, but you must have me confused with somebody else." Then she went away and I saw her go sit with a man who I presume was her date. She looked like a lady. She was pretty and well-dressed and very clean looking. Am I just a green hick or is this the way people get acquainted nowadays? Maybe I'm missing something.

STILL STUNNED

DEAR STUNNED: You got what is commonly known as the "direct approach." She may have looked like a lady, but I assure you she was not. You missed something all right—a lot of trouble!

DEAR ABBY: We are a couple over 70 years old. We have lived as man and wife for over 50 years. Everyone takes it for granted that we are married. (We have five children and 21 grandchildren.) Now we would like to get our pensions and since we have no record of our marriage we don't know how to go about it without shocking the whole community where we have lived for 45 years.

MY MAN AND ME

DEAR MY: Go to a lawyer (it need not be one in your own community) and give him the facts. He can tell you where you can be quietly married.

NOT LAUGHING

DEAR NOT: Your peace of mind at this time is worth more than a picture of your husband pacing the floor. Let your husband call them when it's all over.

On Etiquette

Attending funerals:

The husband of my husband's former wife died. Is it proper for my husband to attend the funeral? Now the wife isn't expected to live. Are we supposed to attend that funeral? Or what is expected of us? My husband and his first wife have a grown daughter and two sons.

Louise Davis answers:

Attending a funeral is a compulsion that often can't be explained and therefore shouldn't be questioned. If possible, it would be better to have your husband to stay away, for his presence might raise some eyebrows that might reflect on him, you, or even on his first wife. After all, the marriage ended in divorce and another husband entered the picture. As your husband remarried, that was all the more reason for him to be absent. A note of condolence to his children should be enough. If that mother should die, I see no reason for attending the funeral or sending flowers. If your husband has regard for the woman's relatives, he could send them a note of sympathy, if his message could give them some comfort. If doing anything at all might reflect on him, you or even on his first wife. After all, the marriage ended in divorce and another husband entered the picture. Like to Buy a Real Paris Gown? Prices Aren't Beyond Your Reach PARIS (CP)—The Canadian window-shopper in Paris finds prices of well-made clothes compare favorably with those in Canada. Hats and shoes are more expensive, but such things as gloves, silk scarves and jewelry decorations are much cheaper.

From the outside, the Mainson Dior looks quiet and unassuming. It is a large grey-stone building, the main entrance guarded on either side by iron railings. Over the doorway is discreet canopy with the letters "CD" printed in gold.

Inside, it's a different story. The main hall gives the impression of being lined in mushroom plush, with huge bouquets of flowers banked in every corner and tall gilded mirrors reflecting their colors. There are many assistants to guide one up the graceful staircase to the showing rooms.

It was a long show—and a beautiful show. Dior showed a style for everyone, young basque bodices and bouffant skirts, graceful middy-topped suits with either slim or pleated skirts, silt tunic tops on taper slim dresses, and long flowing, chiffon evening gowns.

Of interest to Victorians was the christening of the four-month-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Barry Roome, of Vancouver, Sunday afternoon. Wedding will take place Saturday, March 7, in St. John's Anglican Church with Canon George Biddle officiating. Bride-elect has chosen Mrs. S. Elliott as matron of honor and the Misses Lynne Stewart and Jacqueline McPhillips as bridesmaids. Gerald Wray will be best man, and Norman Fox and Raymond Creed, ushers.

There is no neurosis among the Arabs," she said in an interview while visiting here. "They live at a saner pace and more simply. There's no keeping up with the Jones, and their lives are not filled with ringing telephones, TV noises or installment payments.

Their religion enables them to accept things as they are. Arabs are apt to shrug their shoulders in the face of any catastrophe and say, 'If God wills it.' Of course, if this is carried too far, there is no progress."

SOLUTION WEDNESDAY

Mount View High's 'Parliament' Feb. 25

Second annual mock parliament at Mount View High School will be opened at 8 p.m., Feb. 25, at the school.

Under the guidance of teachers, C. H. Smith and J. P. Fawcett, the students will recreate the federal parliament for three evenings of debate and ceremony.

Honor student and editor of the school newspaper Kathleen Smith will assume the role of prime minister, Bruce Morrison will lead the opposition, Roy Van Pelt heads the CCF and Wayne Speller leads the independents.

Parliament will be opened by the Governor-General Mr. L. A. Anderson, preceded by the Gentleman Usher of the Black Rod, John Chapman. Page boys will be chosen from Tolmie School.

First day of the session will be occupied by the Throne Speech and debate; Feb. 26 will be taken up with cabinet members' reports and debates, while the final day is expected to produce a want-of-confidence vote moved by the independents.

Speeches will all be given in English and French and all three evening sittings will be open to the public.

Among the ministers appointed to the young prime minister's cabinet is the Minister of Labor, Vern Tisdale, son of John Tisdale, Social Credit M.L.A. for Saanich.

Girl Guides' Show to Aid Camp Funds

Some 20,000 tickets have been distributed to Greater Victoria Girl Guides, Brownies and Rangers as the organization's drive for camp development funds goes into high gear.

The girls will sell the tickets to the public for admission to a "Festival of Camping" show in the Bay Street Armouries March 21.

Proceeds will be used by the Greater Victoria Girl Guides Association to develop a 160-acre campsite as a Golden Jubilee project. The Canadian movement celebrates its 50th anniversary in 1960.

In addition, the campaign committee has sent out almost 600 letters to various groups seeking support for the first fund-raising drive in its 45-year history.

Donations can be sent to the Greater Victoria Girl Guides Camp Fund, Royal Trust Co., 1205 Government.

The Guides need about $10,000 to develop and pay for the 160-acre campsite and annual report.

The total loss in 1958 was $77,084, the second lowest fire loss for a single year in the last decade. The best year in that time was 1955, with $55,581 and the worst year was 1957, when the fire loss totalled $1,274,258.

Fire loss in blazes to which the fire department was called in 1958 came to $66,994.

Major causes of alarms last year were grass and bush fires, 114; false alarms, 110; chimney fires, 110; rubbish, 62; and smokers' carelessness, 52.

Chief Bayliss again recommends to city council that Burnside firehall be replaced with a hall closer to the industrial reserve and Victoria West. It is becoming increasingly difficult for equipment to enter and leave the present hall, he said.

City Fire Loss Down $1 Million

Loss due to fires in Victoria last year was more than $1,000,000 under the dollar-total loss in 1957. Fire Chief James Bayliss said Friday in his annual report.

ARROW MAY BE DUMPED BUT MODELS ZOOMING

TORONTO (UPI) — Parliament, the United States and NATO have all snubbed the Avro's supersonic CF-105, but it's the greatest thing ever to hit the scale model hobby kit market.

The Arrow do-it-yourself kit hit the market little more than a week ago, but the Financial Post says swamped dealers throughout Canada are pleading for more.

The Post also noted that a once skeptical U.S. manufacturer is happily revising his Canadian sales forecasts.

One dealer was quoted as saying:

"This first plastic model of an all-Canadian plane has sold out by 10 times in three days any of the other kits we've ever offered. Six gross went in one day. I could have sold 50 gross in one day if I'd ordered them."

HE GIVES AWAY GRAND PRIZES

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other exciting prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia (Canadian edition) and of the second question a Hammond Atlas of Globe.

Address your questions to "Ask Andy," Victoria Daily Times.

Andy sends a complete, 15-volume set of Compton's Pictured Encyclopedia to Rebecca Beasley, aged 10, Crown Point, Ind., for her question:

What Is a Rock Wallaby?

The wallabies are closely related to the kangaroos. In fact, if they were bigger, they would be called kangaroos. There are many varieties of wallaby in Australia and Tasmania, ranging in size all the way from a small kangaroo to a sizeable rat.

The rock wallaby is rabbit-sized. He also wears a rabbit-type coat. He gets his name, not because he eats rocks, but from the fact that he makes his home among the rocks. His home may be a rocky crevice quite some distance from his feeding grounds. He will beat a path as he travels to and from his dinner. But chances are, you will never see him hopping to and fro.

Like many of the small kangaroos, this fellow sleeps by day and feeds by night. With luck, you may spot him returning home just before sunrise. You might mistake him for a jack rabbit, for he travels in leaps and bounds.

Being a kangaroo, the little rock wallaby has powerful back legs and a powerful tail. His front legs are small and hardly ever used for walking. The little fellow has a mouse-like face with a pointed nose and round ears like a pair of folded leaves. His face has a sleepy expression, especially in the daytime.

Most kangaroos are grey or drab brown. Wallabies, however, may be daintily tinted and vaguely striped. The coat is always thick and soft but the color varies through brown, gold, grey, black and white.

In times past, wallaby fur was used to make elegant carriage rugs.

Has Built-In Sneakers

The rock wallaby is a very hard fellow to catch. He may look sleepy but he is actually very wide awake. At the first sign of trouble, off he bounds, leaping from rock to rock. Chasing him, you might slip and break a leg. But not so the little wallaby. His back feet are thickly padded to prevent sliding on slippery rocks. If you manage to scare him out of his rocky background, the agile fellow will make for a tree and spring up into its branches.

Being a kangaroo, the wallaby is a marsupial. The baby is reared in a pouch on mama's stomach. The naked, blind and helpless little fellow is almost always an only child. He stays inside his pouch until he is big enough to take a peep out at the world. By this time he has a fur coat and a pair of very bright eyes.

The rock wallaby, like all kangaroos, is a vegetarian. The big kangaroo is tall enough to pick the leaves from high shrubs and even from trees. But the rock wallaby is a desert oasis?

Some rain falls, even in the driest of deserts. A desert occurs when the water that evaporates from the surface is more than the rainfall. A land becomes desert when the rainfall is less than five inches during an average year. But when rain does fall in the desert, it usually comes down in a deluge.

Water gushes down all the slopes and fills up the gullies. The runoff is fast. Even so, much, if not most, of the water sinks into the thirsty ground.

Down, it sinks to become ground water, often far below the surface. In certain places, however, the level of the ground water reaches up very near to the surface. Here plants can reach down their roots and feed upon it. There may also be a spring. If not, a well can be dug down to store ground water. This area is an oasis. The water comes from countless showers that have seeped into the earth and been stored there.

FOR SAANICH ORNAMENTAL PARK

$1,000 in Flowers Donated

Rapid progress is being made towards the development of azaleas have been donated by the first ornamental park in Saanich.

More than $1,000 worth of colorful rhododendrons and azaleas have been donated by nurserymen for planting in Playfair Park.

The park has been cleared of brush and paths are being constructed.

Donations were first received from J. W. B. Watson and Ed Lohbrunner, he said.

8,000 PLANTS

The society eventually hopes to plant at least 6,000 rhododendrons representing hundreds of species in the park which is situated in the Tattersall area east of Quadra Street.

It will take at least five years before the park becomes a showpiece.

Meanwhile, the society is still actively engaged in searching for land to start a national arboretum which would feature trees and shrubs from all parts of the world.

IDEAL SITE

Dr. Adam Szczawinski, botanist, a director of the society, said between 90 and 100 acres of land is required for an arboretum.

"Beaver-Elk Lake would be an ideal site for an arboretum," he said. "Such a project would benefit the entire Greater Victoria area."

Playfair Park, he said, was the society's first objective, the first step in a long-range plan for the establishment of a large general arboretum.

Playfair Park, as it is being planned, is greatly needed in this area," he said.

(A Plus) "A TALE OF TWO CITIES" (Odeon): This British-made adaptation of Charles Dickens' classic about a great love during the French Revolution, "A Tale of Two Cities," is altogether excellent.

Certainly the teaching profession might do well to urge students to see it as it must be considered to be a well-nigh perfect adjunct to the reading of the novel, especially for those now actively engaged in studying Dickens and his works.

This latest adaptation, produced by Betty E. Box and directed by Ralph Thomas, is broad in scope and boasts the dark gutteriness of the book as it catches the flavor of a nation aroused in its bitterness and hate. The mob scenes are vicious and vindictive. The small characters, the street scenes of a bygone era are recaptured with vivid faithfulness.

Nonetheless, "Tale of Two Cities" should be of much aid to all students and thoroughly enjoyed by all who admire Dickens.

THE STORY, of course, almost everyone knows. It is about Dr. Manette (Stephen Murray) who is imprisoned in the Bastille for 18 years after he threatens to complain about the cruelty of noblemen. The Marquis St. Evermonde. During the time he is in the Bastille his daughter, Lucie Manette (Dorothy Tutin), grows up into a beautiful young woman who goes to France to bring him home upon his release. At this time she meets two men, Charles Darnay (Paul Guers), a cousin of Evermonde, also Sidney Carton (Dirk Bogarde), a clever lawyer who drinks far too much. Both men fall in love with her but she only loves with Darnay. In the end, however, it is Carton who proves just how great his love is.

Whereas all actors are competent in their roles there will be some of those who will remember an older adaptation which had Ronald Coleman playing Carton and they will be unable to get him out of their mind and, therefore,

Bogarde may very well suffer in the comparison.

Nonetheless, "Tale of Two Cities" should be of much aid to all students and thoroughly enjoyed by all who admire

Dickens.

'Sell More to Britain' Lumbermen Urged

HUTCHISON REPORTS

The present mysterious comings and goings of American, British and Russian diplomats, the approaching conference of the Western Big Three's foreign ministers, the proposed spring conference of the United States, Britain and France on the one side and Russia, Poland and Czechoslovakia on the other—all these bewildering preparations reflect deep reassessments on both sides of the struggle.

On the Western side the change is widely and wrongly construed as a retreat from those "positions of strength" first erected by Mr. Acheson and maintained by his successor, Mr. Dulles.

In fact, as the unfolding situation is viewed here, the Acheson-Dulles policy (unchanged in essentials with a change of American government) is paying off at last. If Russia is really willing to bargain that is only because it realizes, reluctantly, that the West cannot be seduced or bullied into surrender of its vital interests.

But the West has altered its appreciation of those interests during recent months. It sees that the existing situation of inflexibility cannot be maintained much longer without grave peril.

The same perils, as the Russian mind is read here, afflict the enemy. And they are centred in the tinder box of East Germany.

NEED HARD SELL

"This would seem to indicate that Canadian lumbermen are not doing enough to encourage exports to those countries . . ."

During 1958, he said, lumber exports to the United Kingdom were down by some 12 per cent, due partly to Russian competition. However, lumber exporters expected improved trade in the U.K. market this year.

About half the country's lumber production is exported.

Reviewing Canadian lumber conditions, Mr. Robinson stated:

"In the domestic market the use of lumber has been greatly influenced by increased government spending. In 1957 there were 117,000 new building units completed. The total rose to nearly 160,000 during 1958."

"It is predicted that the 1959 level will equal that of last year, and perhaps exceed it by some 3 to 5 per cent."

KNOCKS FREIGHT RATES

Referring to an association brief on freight rates recently presented to the federal cabinet, Mr. Robinson said the lumber industry is faced by spiralling transportation costs.

"This so-called general increase" in railway freight rates, he said, are borne by only 30 per cent of the total freight volume.

This decision, accepted by Adenauer, is an actual but unofficial, face-saving recognition of East Germany. It represents the inevitable rapprochement of the single German people artificially divided between two states.

These organic stirrings within the German race are too powerful and elemental to be restrained forever. The present groping toward accommodation, in Russia and the West, recognizes that a underlying human fact as dangerous to both, unless some kind of agreement can be arranged before an explosion occurs.

There are other factors driving both sides toward at least a peripheral agreement. As seen from here, Russia is afraid of a West Germany armed with nuclear weapons, even though West Germany is a sitting duck for Russian missiles. In longer, historic terms Russia is far more afraid of a growing, aggressive and strictly Marxist China on its eastern flank.

Such is the complex of problems, possibilities, hopes and fears that the astoundingly vigorous, old Mr. Dulles has taken with him to his hospital bed, with its direct telephone to the White House. They explain why the world thaw has begun but they give us no as sure that it will succeed.

For behind its immediate tactic of a "free" Berlin—an immediate pressure play against the West and a very alarming one—no Western statesman really knows that the Russians are about or what they will pay for an accommodation.

BOOM MEN WIN WALLETS FOR SAFETY

CHEMAINUS — Ten MacMillan and Bloedel Ltd. boom men who completed 3,000 days of work without an accident were presented with leather wallets by Bryce Page, manager of the company's Chemainus division.

He praised the men for their record, which represents 240,000 accident-free man hours of work in 12 years, and for their conscientious use of buoyancy gear.

Hoey Named President By Red Cross

QUALICUM BEACH — Ferguson Hoey was elected president of the Mount Arrowsmith Red Cross Association at its annual meeting last week, succeeding Dr. H. H. Livesey, who has held the post for seven years.

Mrs. H. L. Batten will take over as secretary from Mrs. D. E. Priesman, who has served for five years. Honorary president is H. J. Welch, and vice-presidents are Rev. John Stainer and Mrs. Ron Thwaites.

Service badge of the Provincial Council was presented by Dr. Livesey. Mrs. E. M. Kelly, an active member since 1949, Mrs. Flora Reddyhoff received the service award of the Junior Red Cross from Mrs. Thwaites.

Reports included several by Junior Red Cross members from schools of the district, which extends from Nanoose to Bowser.

SPECIAL TIMES FEATURE

A Famed Chinese Author Looks at Asia

Recently The Times was authorized to present the first authorized report by an American correspondent inside Red China's Bamboo Curtain. Now comes an authoritative look at our own side of the curtain, by famed author Lin Yutang, fresh from an extensive tour of free Asia. Here is the first of his reports.

By LIN YUTANG
(Copyright 1959 by NEA Service Inc.)

NEW YORK (NEA) — If you want to know the future of the world 10 years from now, look at Asia today.

There may come a time when the Communist flood-tide has broken loose and covered two-thirds of the world's population and resources and then, or some time before that, world war will become inevitable.

Or, this tide may be held back and the Communist advance across the Asiatic continent effectively checked, in which case, the balance of forces may tip in the free world's favor.

Altogether Asia is receiving scant attention in proportion to its vital role in the world

struggle for freedom. Hundreds of millions of dollars of American foreign aid have been spent, it is true; but information with regard to current developments is inadequate, vague and confused, sometimes even misleading.

An overall strategy for meeting Communist infiltration and subversion has not been developed; the policies of the United States and her European allies are divided. Our own informants of public opinion are often mis-informed themselves.

The vagueness and haphazard character of our goals in Asia have brought about a state of nervousness and uncertainty, arising from fear of the unknown. During the Quemoy incident, British opinion reached near-hysteria when The New Statesman, in a leading article called "The Rim of Hell" referred to the American policy at Quemoy as "insane."

On the other hand, Russia's Khrushchev is not looking at Europe or a shooting war in the next five to seven years, but is turning his eyes to Asia and Africa.

All bluffs notwithstanding, Khrushchev no more desires the physical destruction of the U.S.S.R. in an atomic war than Americans. Russia is counting on winning the war in Europe through Asia in the next years. A cold war is going on out there, a war of infiltration, propaganda and economic competition, and it is there we must pay more attention.

To find how the different Asiatic peoples are thinking and feeling, with regard to their own development and to Communist China and Russia I went to visit the Far East. Recently much has been made of industrial progress in Red China. Little is published about the remarkable progress in Free China. This is not healthy. Even Communist boasts of blueprints scare us; while the accomplishments of Formosa are ignored.

This is all the more remarkable considering that Washington and all experts agree that Formosa has become the showpiece of effectiveness of the American aid program.

Formosa, which broke into front pages during the Quemoy crisis, may be the least known Southeast Asia area. While the Quemoy war was on, public judgment in this country was based in large measure on what it knew of the Nationalist Chinese Government in the period of its collapse at Nanking.

Nine years have elapsed since then and the consensus of foreigners who have visited Formosa is that the progress in industry and general standard of living, in education and rural reconstruction and demo-

HUTCHISON FROM WASHINGTON

Major Shift In Cold War Under Way

By BRUCE HUTCHISON
Editor The Times

WASHINGTON, D.C.—The world's frozen posture of fourteen years has begun to melt. That is the true meaning of events now moving fast in Washington, London and Moscow.

What will come of them, and when, no man can foresee but there can be no doubt that the world's two greatest powers are groping toward some kind of agreement, probably far short of real peace and, on both sides, are engaged in an agonizing secret reappraisal.

The artificial balance of power — or terror — erected after the last war is crumbling at the edges.

When John Foster Dulles, indispensable man of American diplomacy, went into hos-

World-Wide Readjustment—or Peril

If this assumption is correct, we are entering upon a world-wide period of readjustment. It is incorrect—and no one can be sure about Russia's inner thoughts—we may enter, instead, a period of acute peril.

At any rate, Mr. Dulles, who wears American foreign policy under his hat, has decided to operate on the premise that Russia now wants some kind of accommodation in central Europe, the hinge of the world struggle.

Clearly Mr. Dulles also wants an accommodation which, until recently, he considered impossible and dangerous.

SOMMERS' CASE OPENS HERE

Limitation Clause Key Appeal Point

Vancouver criminal lawyer Angelo Branca, opening an appeal in Victoria today on behalf of former lands and forest minister Robert Sommers, told the court his main argument will revolve around a limitation section of the old Criminal Code.

Mr. Branca said that in effect he was abandoning all other points of the appeal, including mis-direction of the jury by trial judge Mr. Justice J. Q. Wilson.

EXPIRED

He argued in effect that by the time the final indictment was laid in June, 1958—half-way through the trial—a two-year limitation contained in the old code had expired. The trial evidence could be proceeded with after two years from their alleged committal.

Mr. Justice H. L. Bird is heading a panel of three judges hearing the case in the B.C. Court of Appeal. The other justices are H. W. Davey and S. A. Sheppard.

STUDENT TEA PARTY

One lump or two chaps? It's certain none of the old crowd ever expected to see a teapot on top of Victoria College. Nobody seems to know if the pot, which appeared some time Sunday night, was put up by a teen-age teetotaller or a disengaged imbiber. Either way it will stay up there until someone gets up enough nerve to make the windy climb and take it down. Just another in the list of student pranks as old as education. (Times Photo)

CPR Decision Wednesday On Ferries Says Bonner

Decision on a proposal to continue CPR ferry service between Victoria and Vancouver after Feb. 26 will be announced Wednesday, it was indicated today.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner returned from weekend talks in Montreal and Ottawa with official word that the CPR had agreed to take "the second look" at its plan to suspend the winter service next week.

He said CPR president N. R. Crump had agreed to phone him Wednesday with the final decision. CPR west coast officials were to go to Montreal headquarters for discussion of a possible service continuation.

Meanwhile, a planned civic delegation trip to eastern Canada on the whole transportation issue, both planes and ferries, was disrupted today when Mayor Percy Scurrall

U.K., TURKEY, GREECE ALL AGREED ON CYPRUS

LONDON (UPI) — Britain, Greece and Turkey have reached full agreement on the key points of a solution to the Cyprus problem, it was announced by a foreign office spokesman tonight.

The surprise announcement came after a day of conferences among the parties concerned.

Greek Cypriot leaders were reported dissatisfied with some parts of the proposed Cyprus independence plan because Greece and Turkey had reached an agreement on the island's future without consulting them.

But two meetings with Archbishop Makarios, they decided to leave it up to the archbishop to negotiate a compromise or accept the plan in principle, as he saw fit.

The issue will be worked out Tuesday at a three-nation conference.

135 MPH Wind Batters Nfld.; Snow Clogs City

ST. JOHN'S, Nfld. (CP) — This city of 60,000 persons was all but paralyzed today. A blizzard with winds up to 135 miles an hour blocked city streets, cut off power and telephone service and knocked out communication lines.

Four persons died when a snow avalanche crushed two houses at Chain Rock near the entrance to St. John's harbor.

Transportation was at a standstill. Fifteen-foot drifts filled main thoroughfares. City snowplows tried to open some streets but had to call on Canadian and United States service bases for help.

Power was restored to most of the city at 2:30 p.m. after a lapse of almost 12 hours. Service failed about 3 a.m.

The power failure prevented the city's two daily newspapers from publishing. Radio and television stations were silent and many of the city's telephones were out of order.

SINGLE LINK

The only link with mainland Canada was one telegraph cable.

A St. John's Telegram reporter said: "St. John's is at a complete standstill. There are drifts up to 15 feet high in the streets. There is no electricity and telephone communications are shot. The only way to get anywhere is on foot."

The blizzard, worst in memory, struck about midnight and reached its furious peak between 3 and 5 a.m. The weather office at Torbay airport said 21 inches of snow fell. The hurricane, gusting up to 110 miles an hour there, piled drifts that defied all but the most powerful snowplows.

At Red Cliff, near St. John's, winds gusted to 135 miles an hour, an unofficial record for Newfoundland.

Business was practically at a standstill except for stores selling candles, oil stoves and similar equipment.

Scenes like those during last winter's great ice storm were common here as the rush for emergency heating and cooking supplies started.

All highways out of St. John's were reported blocked.

New Proposal Given Moscow

WASHINGTON (AP) — The United States, Britain and France proposed to Russia today that a four-power foreign ministers' conference on this spring with German advisers present.

A preference was expressed for late April or early May as the meeting time.

This is the first time the Western powers have called for inclusion within the conference room of representatives from Communist East Germany and Allied West Germany.

While they would have the role of advisers the step could prove to be a historical move toward some compromise with Russia on the problem of reuniting Germany.

The Western proposals were set forth in similar notes delivered in Moscow today.

SUMMIT MEET TOO?

At the same time, U.S. officials opened up the possibility of a summit conference to follow if the foreign ministers succeeded in making substantial progress on German issues.

The immediate strategy is to get Russia to the conference table just prior to the deadline for handing over occupation responsibilities in East Berlin to the East German government.

Last November, Premier Khrushchev threatened such action after six months and the deadline would be May 27. It holds the danger of a new Communist blockade of Berlin.

The Western powers would prefer that the conference be held in Geneva or alternatively in Vienna.

Aspects that would be dealt with include such immediate issues as the Western demand for reunification of Germany, the Soviet plan to oust the Western powers from Berlin and to make a peace treaty with the two Germans; and other issues related to Germany such as broad questions of European security and of the possibility of disengagement of Soviet and Western forces in Central Europe.

The Western powers told Russia that if the Communists try to cut the lines of the Western powers into Berlin "the danger to world peace" should be evident.

And, once again, as in an earlier note on Dec. 31, the U.S., British and French governments asserted their determination "to uphold by all appropriate means their communications with their sectors of Berlin."

The state department said Sunday that Dulles' condition "continues satisfactory." It disclosed that during the 15 days talked for about 15 minutes with acting state secretary Christian Herter.

Herter said he would accept appointment as state secretary if President Eisenhower asked him to.

Dulles' doctors gave him a fighting chance to recover enough from the cancer to remain on the job at least part time. The doctors noted that recent advances in medical science have brightened hopes of cancer patients.

PHILIP'S CARS SKID INTO TANGLE AT SWAT

SAIDU SHARIF, Pakistan (Reuters) — Prince Philip, driving into the tribal state of Swat, today escaped a traffic tangle that involved part of his procession and nearly brought tragedy to children welcoming him.

After driving 3,000 feet upward on a dangerous mountain road, the procession was passing the first school in Swat state when an official car, passing another carrying Pakistani journalists, skidded broadside-on.

It slid toward a double line of waving children. The journalists' car skidded too and both came to rest nose to nose within a yard or two of the leading seven-year-old welcome.

Philip, driving ahead, went on unaware of the near-accident.

Wonder how many man-hours he's bin used over the last fifty years figurin' out what t' do about Berlin?
Well, th' Inner Harbor'll still be busy, now th' Nanaimo buses are leavin' from there.
Them Newfoundlanders got Canadianized party quick.

PRACTICE AFTER GAME

Oops! Phil's Angry (Again)

By UP International

Coach Phil Watson of the New York Rangers, who wields the biggest "whip" in the National Hockey League, has introduced a new wrinkle in an attempt to snap his club out of its longest losing streak in two years.

When the Rangers dropped their fifth straight game to the Montreal Canadiens, 5-3, Sunday night at Madison Square Garden, Watson was so infuriated he ordered his players back on the ice for an exhausting 43-minute workout.

It was believed to be the first time an NHL coach resorted to such severe tactics. Garden fans who remained in their seats after the game blinked their eyes in amazement when Watson donned skates and a windbreaker and kept his men on the ice for what amounted to two extra periods.

MUZZ STEPS IN

Finally, general manager Muzz Patrick spoke to Watson and the impromptu drill was halted. As the Rangers staggered to their dressing room, Patrick explained he asked Watson to stop the workout because "it was costing us too much money." It was estimated the drill cost $200 in overtime pay for Garden employees, who normally dismantle the rink immediately after a game.

The usually loquacious Watson refused to talk to newsmen after the workout. The players either were ordered not to discuss it or were too tired to do so, although star right wing Andy Bathgate indicated he felt Watson was justified in his action.

"You've got to try something when you're losing like we are," said Bathgate, who wasn't excused from the session although he has a painful knee injury.

GUMP LEAVES

The only player who was permitted to leave immediately after the game was goalie Lorne Worsley. He missed two games last week because of a sore back and still isn't fully recovered, although he held the Canadiens at bay for two periods Sunday night.

Rangers were leading 1-0 on a second period goal by Camille Henry when the roof fell in on them and Worsley, Ab McDonald and Phil Goyette scored back-to-back goals for Montreal within 83 seconds midway through the final period. That sunk New York but Dickie Moore, Bernie Geoffrion and Marcel Bonin tallied in the final four minutes to add to Watson's miseries.

In Sunday's other action, Bronco Horvath and Johnny Bucyk scored in the third period to give Boston Bruins a 3-3 deadlock with Chicago Black Hawks, and George Howe figured in three goals in the final period as Detroit Red Wings bounced Toronto Maple Leafs, 4-2.

Marlene Shares In Easy Victory

JUPITER, Fla. (AP) — Jack Penrose of Miami Beach and Marlene Stewart of Toronto breezed through the finals of the United States amateur mixed foursomes golf tournament Sunday with a 10 and 9 victory over Howard Everett of Northfield, N.J., and Roma Neudorf of Toronto.

Sailors Square Intermediate Set

Taking full advantage of the absence of Nanaimo Clipper star Don Ashbee, and with the vision of the B.C. intermediate hockey championship in their minds, Victoria's Navy team wacked up an 8-6 overtime win in Nanaimo Saturday night.

Navy's victory evened the best-of-five series 1-1, and set the stage for the all-important third contest in Memorial Arena, Tuesday.

Ashbee was handed a year's suspension Friday by BCAHA president Leo Atwell after hitting referee Johnny Smith in the series' opener in Victoria last Tuesday.

Neil Standley and Joe Morris each tallied twice for the winners with singles coming from Johnny Bond and Cliff Uhren.

Arnie Dugan paced Clipper's with a pair of goals while Earl

Help 'Minutes Away' From Dying Tug Crew

Fisherman Saw Flash of Light

BY DON INGHAM

Help from a fisherman was only minutes away from the dying crewmen of the tug Henry Foss as they drifted Friday morning in icy waters off Salt Spring Island, it was learned today.

The 90-foot Port Angeles-based tug was on its way to Ladysmith when it hit a rock near the Channel Islands Friday at 4 a.m. during a south-east gale.

It was backed off the reef, but sank. The seven-man crew took to the lifeboats without sending a radio signal, and four hours later the lone survivor, Edward Hanson, 41, was found at the mouth of Ganges Harbor.

BRIEF FLASH

Al House, of Fulford Harbor, told friends after the tragedy how he had seen the brief flash of a searchlight Friday morning, but did not recognize it as a distress signal.

His large fishing boat, moored in Fulford Harbor, had been slipping its anchor in the storm, forcing him to go aboard, start the engine, and ride the storm out in open water.

He noticed the searchlight glare above land between himself and the wreck, but it was brief and not significant.

"If it had been a distress flare I would have gone around," he said.

He spent the rest of the night cruising slowly back and forth in the area, finally returning to Fulford later in the day when the wind had died down.

The tug was located in 120 feet of water by Jack Daley, diver and salvage expert for Island Tug and Barge Ltd., who reported visibility almost nil.

Henry Foss, president of Foss Launch and Tug Co. of Seattle, operator of the wrecked vessel, said today no decision has been made yet regarding salvage.

"A full examination of her hull will be needed first," he said.

Gordon Elworthy of Island Tug and Barge, Ltd., said the vessel is resting on a small ledge, but appears to be secure. An accurate survey will be made on a bright day when visibility is better, he said.

EXPOSURE

The six crewmen apparently died of exposure. Their lifeboat capsized immediately after being launched, and although they wore life jackets and held on to the boat, one by one they dropped away.

One man died alone in a smaller boat.

Hanson was found alive on the larger boat by the crew of the ferry Cy Peck, and Richard T. Lothian, who had been held by Hanson until they were sighted, was found alive near by. He was dead on arrival at hospital.

Hanson is making a good recovery at Lady Minto Gulf Islands Hospital at Ganges. His wife arrived there on the weekend.

INQUEST

An inquest into the deaths of the six men opened Saturday at Ganges, but was adjourned and will continue Friday.

Bodies of the victims have been brought to Haywards, and will be taken in a procession of six hearses to the Inner Harbor Tuesday at 11 a.m., when the American ship Iroquois will take them to sea.

Indecision Marks Week on Markets

By GERRY MARTIN

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Canadian stock exchanges were practically stationary last week in the face of light trading and little bullish corporate news.

The week started off with industrials receiving their worst beating since mid-November.

Small-lot sales reportedly characterized the decline.

The picture suddenly reversed itself Tuesday and industrials recovered almost all of their losses as buyers jumped in to take advantage of Monday's cutback.

Cheap Atom Power Seen In Northland

Atomic power production in northern B.C. ranking with the cheapest on earth, could result when the proposed railway to Northwest Territories is completed, Lands and Forests Minister Ray Williston says.

Speaking in the Legislature, the minister hinged development on the construction of a railway between Grimshaw in the Alberta Peace River area and Pine Point on Great Slave Lake.

The railway is to be a joint CPR-CNR project. A federal commission has recommended the route follow the eastern boundary of Alberta. B.C. has proposed it follow the western border, where it would serve a greater population and could be easily linked to the PGE terminus at Fort St. John.

If the route favored by B.C. is finally developed, the minister said, the combination of B.C. power (from the Peace River) and uranium and other metals from the north, would permit atomic power development "which would rank with the cheapest on earth."

He said the "economic pulse of B.C. now flows south to north. I predict in 15 years it will flow north to south."

The losses, however, were never quite wiped out as the rest of the week was one of indecision.

An index at Toronto Industrials showed a three-quarter-point decline.

ANNUAL REPORTS

Three active industrial issues released 1958 reports that failed to come up to 1957. All, however, painted brighter pictures for the future.

Canadian Breweries reported a 4-cent decrease in net earnings a share, attributing its loss to last summer's seven-week strike in Ontario of brewery warehouse workers.

Its stock dipped nearly $2 Tuesday on word that it had been ordered to stand trial under the Combines Investigation Act by an Ontario Supreme Court grand jury. On the week, however, it lost only 25 cents.

Abitibi Power & Paper and Algoma Steel each showed decreases in 1958 earnings over the previous year. Abitibi slipped nearly $1 but recovered to close the week unchanged. Algoma was off 37 cents.

The steels generally were strong.

Southam Company had one of the best gains, rising $3.50 at $72.50. The company reported its profits were substantially higher in 1958 over the previous year and that it planned a tax-free stock distribution to shareholders.

Senior base metals were mixed.

The Consolidated Mining & Smelting, Canada's top lead and zinc producer, cut its lead and zinc prices by half a cent a pound Tuesday.

Changes in gold and western oils stayed within a 50-cent range.

enter, instead, a period of acute peril.

At any rate, Mr. Dulles, who wears American foreign policy under his hat, has decided to operate on the premise that Russia now wants some kind of accommodation in central Europe, the hinge of the world struggle.

Clearly Mr. Dulles also wants an accommodation which, until recently, he considered impossible and dangerous.

A year ago, as this reporter then noted in Washington, the United States government, with strong backing from the Democratic party, flatly rejected George Kennan's famous thesis of "disengagement" in Europe. It would not consider for a moment any relaxation of its strategic position there or any deal satisfactory to Russia. The Kennan thesis dropped out of sight, apparently lost in the peripheral crises of Qdsmoy and the Middle East.

But disengagement, in one form or another, was not dead and now has been revived, in the belief that Russia wishes to disengage, at least partially.

The present mysterious comings and goings of American, British and Russian diplomats,

Two Alarming Trends in E. Germany

Two things, alarming to both sides, have been happening in East Germany.

The puppet Russian state constructed there has become so unpopular with the German people, it has fallen so far behind a booming West Germany in living standards, that Russia has good reason to fear some kind of uprising, like that of Hungary in 1956.

Secondly, through the escape hatch of West Berlin, the essential technicians of the East German state have been flowing steadily into the West to undermine the state's whole administrative apparatus.

When, for example, East Germany must import doctors from Czechoslovakia it is obviously in a bad way.

The dilemma of East Ger-

Adenauer Big Piece in the Jigsaw

That thriving state must be preserved, but in the event of serious trouble in East Germany it might not be controllable. An involuntary racial movement of union between the dismembered German peoples could easily force intervention by both the West and by Russia to protect their rival interests and that could mean war.

Another big piece in this jigsaw puzzle is the West German government and the towering personality of its leader, Chancellor Adenauer. Their attitude, too, is changing.

So far Adenauer has been able to resist any thought of negotiating with East Germany or even of recognizing it officially, but he is being hard pressed by the powerful opposition parties who want a deal with Russia and, besides, Adenauer (like Dulles) will not be in office for many more years.

Once Adenauer goes, the West German pressure for a deal may become irresistible. Already he has yielded significant ground under that pressure and so have the great Western powers.

Perhaps the most significant development of the last fortnight has been the Western decision to admit West and East German "observers" to the forthcoming conference.

This decision, accepted by Adenauer, is an actual but unofficial, face-saving recognition of East Germany. It represents the inevitable rapprochement of MONTREAL (CP) — Canadian lumbermen should explore more thoroughly the possibility of increasing exports to Britain and other British Commonwealth nations, Ronald H. Robinson, president of the Canadian Lumbermen's Association, said today.

He told the opening session of the association's annual meeting:

"During the first 10 months of 1958 total Canadian lumber exports rose by about 6 per cent.

"However, while exports to the United States increased considerably, it must be pointed out that exports to Great Britain, British Commonwealth and other countries declined.

NEED HARD SELL

"This would seem to indicate that Canadian lumbermen are not doing enough to encourage exports to those countries . . ."

During 1958, he said, lumber exports to the United Kingdom were down by some 12 per cent, due partly to Russian competition. However, lumber exporters expected improved trade in the U.K. market this year.

About half the country's lumber production is exported.

Reviewing Canadian lumber conditions, Mr. Robinson stated:

"In the domestic market the use of lumber has been greatly influenced by increased government spending. In 1957 there were 117,000 new building units completed. The total rose to nearly 160,000 during 1958.

"It is predicted that the 1959 level will equal that of last year, and perhaps exceed it by some 3 to 5 per cent."

NOCKS FREIGHT RATES

Referring to an association brief on freight rates recently presented to the federal cabinet, Mr. Robinson said the lumber industry is faced by spiralling transportation costs.

"This so-called general increase" in railway freight rates, he said, are borne by only 30 per cent of the total freight volume.

"We are much too complicit about those increases and their discriminatory nature. In fact with Western grain moving at less than one-third the cost of all other materials, the lumber industry is subsidizing other segments of the Canadian economy."

Some 1,500 lumbermen from all parts of Canada, the United States and Britain were expected for the three days of business and technical sessions.
